

TW2: Hormonal disorders and weight loss: what do dietitians need to know?

Next Generation Nutrition:
Innovative Solutions

Presenters:

Susie Burrell

Susie Burrell holds an Honours degree in both dietetics and psychology and is the specialist weight management dietitian at The Children's Hospital at Westmead. Susie has been practising clinically since 2001 and is currently involved in a NHMRC funded project examining the use of high protein diets in the dietary management of insulin resistance in adolescents. Susie is a regular presenter on all areas of childhood nutrition particularly in the areas of weight loss and childhood obesity.

Kerryn Chisholm

Kerryn Chisholm is an experienced paediatric dietitian and has worked clinically at The Children's Hospital at Westmead since 1998. Kerryn has worked across a number of clinical areas including metabolics, diabetes and more recently weight management and has an interest in GP training specifically in the area of childhood obesity prevention.