OP16.06 Cerebroplacental ratio and risk of operative delivery for intrapartum fetal compromise at term. Does gestational age play a role?

J.U. Ortiz, E. Ostermayer, O. Graupner, S. Flechsenhar, K. Abel, B. Kuschel, S.M. Lobmaier

Technical University of Munich, School of Medicine, Division of Obstetrics and Perinatal Medicine, Munich, Germany

Results
Conclusions

Low CPR increased the risk of operative delivery for IFC in pregnancies delivered at ≥40+0 weeks for SGA and at ≥41+0 weeks for AGA. However, its predictive accuracy was low.